Earl Shilton is one of the largest villages in the county

In close proximity to Hinckley and was first mentioned in the Domesday survey of 1086 when it was know as Scheltone, which means "shelf" referring to the town's position on a hill. The village has a thriving High Street with a large number of independent retailers including a sports shop, several high class ladies clothes shops and a range of interior decorators.

There are a number of places to eat including Chillies Indian restaurant and Ashfields, winner of the ITV News Viewers Restaurant of the Year 2005. There is ample free car parking, both on and off the street.
